3. "One Kent" Attachments

I've included a couple of new articles related to our One Kent Initiative that are 3-hole punched so that you can insert them into your notebook.

The first is the "Community Heart & Soul" Field Guide that was mentioned as a possible template to help guide us through our renewed community conversations related to updating the social and cultural elements of the Bicentennial Plan (you may recall the Heart & Soul approach received a positive testimonial from Professor Jen Mapes during the public comment period).

I've also printed an article that describes recent efforts in Dublin Ohio to build multi-generational apartments. According to the article, it turns out that the lifestyle amenities that appeal to the younger generation also appeal to active seniors.

Lastly I came across an article that summarized the apartment/housing design trends that appeal to the over 55 demographic. (attachments)
